THE VOLCANIC ANDES

WONDERS OF 5,000-MILE RANGE: CAUSE OF ERUPTIONS.

DEATH AND RUIN AMID SCENES OF UNFORGETTABLE BEAUTY.

There have been frequent rumblings from the volcano of Descabezado (which means the "Beheaded") in Chile, but nothing like the recent violent eruption has been known there in historical times, though in 1926 and 1928 this peak, like the volcano of Azul (the Blue Peak), was fiercely active, writes a correspondent of The Times.

Descabezado, made up of two cones, Grande and Chico, emplaced upon an enormous older cone—just as Vesuvius stands within the crater of the older and greater Monte Somma—is about 12,500ft. above the sea. From this area southwards to Patagonia there are abundant volcanoes, many of which are however, extinct.

All along the Andes, which run from sea to sea, the bulwark of a continent, there has been tremendous volcanic activity. From the rocks which make up the Andes it is clear that two types of eruption are common. There are those accompanied by great outpourings of lavas, and those in which the material is blown out into the air and then settles as bed of ash. In some parts of Central America old beds of such ash lie as deep as 2,000ft., with practically no lava intermingled with them. Such a thickness occurs only close to the volcanic vents themselves, but in many parts of the world beds of ash have been laid down as thick as 50ft. over hundreds of square miles.

STUPENDOUS HEIGHT.

The Andes run west from Trinidad through Venezuela, to Colombia, and then turn sharply south to form the ramparts skirting the Pacific along the entire length of South America. They stretch for more than 5,000 miles, varying in altitude from sea level to each end to over 22,900ft. above the sea, and they extend over 65 deg. of latitude. They therefore pass through a wide range of climates, on which depend the varied industries developed along their course, and the vagaries of population, human, animal, and plant.

In Venezuela the Andes awaken memories of the days of the Spanish Main. The tracks used the Drake still zig-zag across the scrub-covered sierra. Where the heights enter Colombia, taiga forests clothe their flanks and reach high towards their peaks. Here the characteristics that distinguish them from most other mountain ranges begin to show, and in Peru there is a vast expanse of upland plateau, 10,000ft. above sea level. On this roof of the world lie the great lakes of Titicaca and Junin, and in their vicinity are some of the richest silver mines that have ever been known.

In this region the Andes separate the rain-forests of the Amazon basin (over which the wet south-east trade winds blow) from the arid west coasts of Peru and Chile, where the lack of rain has enabled unique deposits of guano and caliche, or nitrate, to be preserved. Farther south, where the south-west winds blow from the Pacific, the temperature rain-forest clothes the mountain sides on the west, while to the east blizzard-swept pampas extend to the Atlantic seaboard.

TRANSPORT.

For ages transport in the Andes was of the most primitive kind. In spite of the fact that man was the principal beast of burden until the sixteenth century, wonderfully good roads had been built by the Incas along the highlands of the Andes. The coming of the Conquistadores did little to improve communications, as their lust for gold allowed the highly specialized Inca civilization to fall into ruin, and with that the highways ceased to be maintained. About the middle of last century European enterprise caused the series of tracks—the "Camino Real" of "South America—to be supplemented by railways.

DOUBLE-ACTION OF ROYAL

Two natural fruit acids are used in ROYAL BAKING POWDER, viz: tartaric fruit acid which may be called "quick acting" due to the reaction with the base being started by the addition of liquid to the batter; and cream of tartar which may be called "slow acting," its reaction to the base being delayed until the heat from the oven is felt.

The "double-acting" qualities of ROYAL BAKING POWDER as well as its many other outstanding qualities are the result of fifty years experience by the ROYAL BAKING POWDER COMPANY in the manufacture of the highest quality food products.

A series of committees have from time to time examined the various types of bridge suggested, and all the data necessary for judgment now being available it is hoped that the new Governor will take steps that will result in the construction of the new bridge without further delay. Constructional engineers display a very human desire to make such structures as large and impressive as possible, but utility is now the governing consideration, and no design involving expenditure in excess of the revised estimate stands the slightest chance of being considered.

It is now more or less generally known that recent developments in the manufacture of Red Lead have resulted in the production of a non-setting production of such a character that the paint will keep on storage and can, therefore, be supplied in bulk. Such non-setting Red Lead made by the oxidation of molten lead with air in two stages, at about 645 deg. F. and 1,000 deg. F., respectively, with very accurate temperature control contains not less than 64 per cent. actual Red Lead (Plumbic Tetroxide) and 99.9 per cent. total oxides of lead, with not over 0.6 per cent. Lead Monoxide, excess of the latter being the cause of setting or hardening of the paint on storage in the usual containers. If other industries would follow the scientific methods of petroleum in this manner there would be made available some startling information concerning the ravages of rust and corrosion.

The Naval Estimates show that the instalment towards the new naval base at Singapore, which has been the heaviest item in the Works Vote for some years, will be £800,000 in the current year, as against £784,000 voted a year ago. In the House of Commons recently Capt. D. Evan Wallace, Civil Lord of the Admiralty, said the work under this contract was progressing well, and there was no reason to suppose it would be unfinished when due in 1935, but financial string-

"THE GAY CABALLERO."

COLORFUL SCENES IN FILM AT KING'S.

A trade notice states:—

Men have died for the Lady of Spain, drunk to her beauty, and danced to the ringing reverberations of her castanets. She symbolizes all that is fiery in love, all that is mysterious in romance, all that is appealing in charm: this legendary, languorous, dark-eyed daughter of Spain.

Dons and peons alike salute her but only on one night of the year do they drop caste distinctions and join hands in mutual celebration and adoration. That is the Fiesta of the Rains, a holiday celebrated in all Latin countries and in some parts of our great Southwest, especially along the Mexican border.

The Fiesta of the Rains forms a colorful background for one sequence of "The Gay Caballero," Fox melodrama of the modern border country showing to-day at the King's Theatre. George O'Brien is featured with Victor McLaglen and Conchita Montenegro in the leading rôles. As a newcomer, George O'Brien is invited to attend the Fiesta as the guest of C. Henry Gordon, Miss Montenegro's wealthy Mexican uncle in the picture.

Beneath the softly glowing moon, the flower-scented gardens and gaily decorated patios of the ancient hacienda are aglow with color and light. Native poems with their wives and sweethearts intermingled carelessly with the proud dons and their haughty women folk. Music from a native orchestra of strings dominates the scene.

Conchita, in a dancing costume of Spain, whirls into the picture, accompanied by the enthusiastic applause of the guests. All in spirit, action, gaiety.

Suddenly a mounted peon dashes into the patio. The village is being burned. Vicious vaqueros of Gordon have been loosed upon the countryside. Innocent landholders are being driven from their homes, their stock killed, haystacks burned. Their only hope is for the appearance of El Coyote, "The Gay Caballero."

Sylvia Sydney in "The Miracle Man," showing to-morrow at the King's Theatre.

This is the situation in which George O'Brien finds himself when he arrives to take over the management of his property. Instead of great wealth, he realizes he has inherited a fight for justice in the Southland. How he and Victor McLaglen begin the uneven struggle, how his love for Conchita overcomes the jealousy of her uncle and her lover, and how the mysterious El Coyote is finally proven a friend of the poor and oppressed, form the climax of this absorbing, swift-moving action drama of to day.

The Gill wrote "The Gay Caballero," which first appeared as a popular magazine serial and was adapted to the screen by Philip Klein and Barry Connors. Alfred Werker directed the picture which boasts of a powerful supporting cast, including, Linda Watkins, Weldon Hayburn, Willard Robertson, Martin Garralaga, Juan Torenza and many others.

JOAN CRAWFORD IN "POSSESSED."

TO-MORROW AT QUEEN'S THEATRE.

A trade notice states:—

A trio of important film names are connected with "Possessed," which will head the Queen's programme to-morrow for the principal rôles are played by Joan Crawford and Clark Gable, two of the most popular personalities on the current screen, and the picture was directed by Clarence Brown, who did such fine work on Norma Shearer's "A Free Soul" and Greta Garbo's "Inspiration."

Report has it that Miss Crawford gives her greatest talkie portrayal in "Possessed," in which she plays the rôle of a factory girl who tastes the luxuries of Park Avenue life only to meet with bitter disillusionment when her love stands in the way of Gable's rise to governorship of his state.

The story opens in the box factory where Marian Martin (Miss Crawford) is just another cog in the machine age. Her only chance to escape the monotonous routine of her life is to marry Al Manning (Wallace Ford), a fellow worker, but Marian, embittered by poverty, feels that a wife is nothing more than a servant who isn't paid for her work.

Circumstances bring her to New York, where she ultimately tastes the luxuries of Park Avenue life as the mistress of Mark Whitney (Clark Gable). For the sake of convention, she is now known as Mrs. Moreland. Whitney, whom she comes to love devotedly, abhors marriage because of a previous unfortunate matrimonial experience. But Marian discovers his love for her when he is about to turn down an opportunity to run for governor of the state because it will mean giving her up.

Harold Gestures.

Marian heroically attempts to solve his problem by telling Whitney that she is going to marry Al Manning. Embittered, Whitney enters the political fight. When it seems that a whispering campaign about the infamous "Mrs. Moreland" will prove his undoing, Marian goes to the political rally and brings the dramatic conflict to a surprising denouement.

"THE MIRACLE MAN."

WITH CHESTER MORRIS AND SYLVIA SIDNEY.

A trade notice states:—

Chester Morris, one of the first American actors to leave the stage for the talkies and one of the biggest favorites among the United States younger stars, will have the rôle played 13 years ago by Thomas Meighan in "The Miracle Man," which comes to the King's Theatre on next Sunday.

In this talkie Morris is costarred with Sylvia Sydney, Joan Wray, Robert Coogan and Hobart Bosworth.

Morris rose to overnight screen fame in the early stages of talking pictures through his work in "Alibi." Since that time, he has worked steadily in a long series of pictures at nearly every studio in Hollywood.

Before signing with Paramount, he completed leading parts in "Corsair" and "Cock of the Air," Caddo air production. Among his other rôles have been those in "The Big House," "The Divorcee" and "The Bat Whispers."

Before entering motion pictures, Morris won stardom on the stage.

The New Chevalier Film.

Myrna Loy, of "Arrowsmith" and "Devil to Pay," has been signed by Paramount for a leading temptress rôle in Maurice Chevalier's starring production, "Love Me, To-night." She joins a supporting cast including Jeanette MacDonald, Charlie Ruggles, Charles E. Butterworth, C. Aubrey Smith and Elizabeth Patterson, who will be under direction of Rouben Mamoulian.

"The Fires of Fate."

Bronzed and fit, full of enthusiasm for the success of filming operations in the East, Norman Walker has returned, with an equally unburned company, from Egypt where he has been producing "The Fires of Fate," for B.I.P.

"After Office Hours."

To introduce even more authentic atmosphere into the film of London life "After Office Hours," which Thomas Bentley is now producing for B.I.P., he has now added a typical early morning rush and City lunch hour scramble to his interesting sequences.

Ivor Novello.

Mr. Ivor Novello is in no hurry to return to Hollywood. He has been given six months' leave by the American film company to whom he is under contract, but half that holiday is now up—and Mr. Novello tells me that he is trying to persuade the film directors to extend it for another six months!

Optimistic of the result of his application, he has made the Shaftesbury Theatre his stage headquarters, and when "I Lived With You" has exhausted its popularity he hopes to remain on there in another play from his pen.

"The Blonde Venus."

Miss Edna Best and her husband, Mr. Herbert Marshall, are on their way from New York to Hollywood, where Mr. Marshall will stop at once, into the limelight as leading man to Miss Marlene Dietrich in "The Blonde Venus," under the direction of Mr. Josef von Stern-

GOSSIP & FACT.

Edna Best in Hollywood.

Miss Best fled from Hollywood last year when she decided to return to her husband in New York in preference to playing in "The Phantom of Paris" opposite Mr. John Gilbert.

She is still under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, but has no intention of appearing in any talking-picture in Hollywood. On the contrary, she is looking forward to September, when Mr. Marshall's two pictures will be completed and both will return to London.

A Cause for Alarm.

Anti-feminists are viewing with alarm and bachelors are chuckling over the trouble experienced by a film studio when a call went out for women who know how to operate a sewing machine. One of ninety-eight applicants interviewed for parts as seamstresses in a motion picture, only six were found who could run a machine with any degree of skill.

Harold Lloyd and His Ducks.

It will cost an insurance company $2,000 per player if any more members of the cast of Harold Lloyd's new comedy, "Movie Crazy," are eaten. Four ducks being trained to play rôles in the comedy were stolen from the studio in Hollywood, where "Movie Crazy" is being produced, and inquiry developed that the ducks were used for food.

Lloyd bought four more ducks, which are kept in a pen at the United Artists studio, but as the pen could not be made theft-proof the comedy star had the ducks insured for the duration of the production of his picture for a total of $10,000.

The proceedings reflected the highest credit on all concerned. HENDREN'S STROKE ON THE RETREAT.

THE UNORTHODOXY OF BRILLIANT CRICKETERS.

I have been commissioned by some aspiring small boys to take them during the summer to a cricket match. I have no intention whatever of disappointing them. In these days, when there are so many substitute amusements to distract the youth of England, one should preserve and stimulate their enthusiasm for cricket.

I approach my task with some diffidence, however, being chiefly concerned as to the players I am going to invite these budding cricketers to see.

It must be remembered that youth is always imitative. Whomever I take my young friends to watch in action, upon them, did they but know it, will rest a big responsibility. Suppose we go no further than Lord's, and are in time to see G. T. S. Stevens and Lee make their comically contrasted ways to the wicket. After a few moments of concentrated observation Lee will be scathingly attacked. One is taught to stand easily, as nearly upright as is compatible with comfort, left elbow and shoulder turned towards the bowler. Lee aggravates his lack of inches by bending his knees so much that his nose is not far removed from the top of the handle. As for Stevens, why, I might well be asked, if one is told to lift the bat back freely, does he deign to move it only an inch or two from the block-hole?

No Wonder!

Suppose one of these admirable batsmen makes way for the next, well-groomed Hearne. He, surely, will pass muster! For a while all will be serene. But I doubt whether Hearne will score fast enough, and the young hopefuls, therefore, soon will be striving to pick a hole somewhere. At last they have it. They are told to get their left foot to the pitch of the ball when they can reach it. No wonder Hearne scores slowly; he always plays back.

With Hendren, of course, they will be friends before even he has his eye in. At the other end Hearne, let us assume, is beginning to push along, seemingly indifferent to his rate of progress, but nevertheless getting his runs more quickly than at first. Hendren, becoming set, grows very bold. A hard-worked bowler, more in hope than expectation, will be bowling at his leg stump, the field scattered all over the on-side. Suddenly Hendren will make a swift retreat towards square-leg, and hit the ball for four through the untended covers. He will repeat the stroke. This will be too much for my companions. They will be leath to criticise such an attractive player, but surely he must not "run away!" They have always been instructed to keep the right leg firm when playing forward, and move it on to the line of the ball when playing back. Such heresy cannot go uncondemned.

Thousands of Runs.

With praiseworthy presence of mind I will suggest tea, and over the meal hold as much of the small boys' attention as they can spare from the more serious business in hand. Lee, I will point out, has made thousands of runs in the style peculiar to himself. For years he has been invaluable to his side. After all (with slightly more conviction) was not Jessop before him dubbed "The Croucher?" Stevens is so strong in the forearm that a short back-lift is all he needs. Hearne has the faculty of watching the ball so late that he can play back with certainty where the ordinary mortal must rely upon a blind and somewhat desperate forward-stroke. As for Hendren he is so quick-thinking and nimble-footed that a stroke which would be suicide to you and me is safe enough in his case. I will be listened to with the respect always accorded by the young to their host while he is their host, but I doubt whether my explanations will have impressed them deeply. After tea it is best to assume that they depart, for in the evening they must have seen others shuffling to square-leg from less worthy motives than those of Hendren.

Would be Fatal.

I have taken the Middlesex players as illustrations, but I might just as well have chosen any other (Continued on next column.)

THE RUBBER MARKET.

EFFECT OF U.S.
 REGULATIONS.

Messrs. Pentreath & Co. have kindly forwarded us the following letter dated May 11, from Hornby Hemelryk & Co., Liverpool.

The chief feature during the past week has been the proposal which has been "approved" by the U.S.A. Senate Finance for an import tax of 5c. per lb. The proposal comes before the Senate to-morrow after which it will have to be submitted to Congress for confirmation.

The effect of these proposals was to cause a sharp upward turn in New York which enabled arbitrage business to be transacted for very prompt shipment from London and Liverpool, and we understand that several thousand tons are being shipped on Friday to America.

The influence on prices in London has been negligible, but the premium on forward deliveries has contracted, which renders carrying business impossible at the present levels.

The effect of the proposed tax in America is difficult to gauge, and, for the moment, until the U.S.A. Government makes a definite decision, the market here is marking time except in so far as business for prompt shipment to New York is possible. It would seem, however, that the tax may in the long run prove to be to the detriment of the plantation industry as it may give a fillip to the use of reclaimed Rubber in America where the proportionate quantity of this Rubber has been diminishing in recent years owing to the low price of the commodity.

It is reported that American rubber manufacturers are protesting against the proposed legislation owing to fears of the competition of foreign tyres in America. This led to a sharp break in New York prices on Monday which was partially recovered yesterday, and the New York market is expected to continue erratic until a definite decision is reached.

The New York Rubber Exchange rules make no provision for a duty, and in consequence the contract is construed to be for Rubber deliverable free of duty which would presumably be for seller's account unless the Congressional bill provides to the contrary.
 Close London last night:—Spot, May and June 2d, July/Sept. 2 1/2d., Oct./Dec. 2 1/2d., Jan./Mch. 2 3/4d., Apr./June 2 1/2d., buyers.
 Our New York correspondents cabled last night that if the tax bill passes in its present form, the futures market should advance further.
 Close New York last night:—July 3.25c, Sept. 4.00c, Dec. 4.05c, Mch. 4.21c.

county. One might say that Woolley and K. S. Dulepsinhji are completely orthodox batsmen, and could be used as models. Woolley certainly plays every ball on its merits, but with Woolley, so long as his reach and certain his eye, the ball seems to have so little merit, Dulepsinhji, too, has such pronounced physical advantages (eye and wrist in his case) that to tell a boy to try to play like him would be fatal.

Hobbs, similarly, is a genius and therefore a law unto himself, while Sutcliffe, great as he is, defies many of the rules of batsmanship. His right hand has a habit of straying to the very bottom of the handle and the bat is brought up by way of point.

Where am I to take my young friends? I might take them to the first county match that comes along, explaining that the batsmen can commit what seem to them like enormities because they are fine players, and that they learnt the orthodox strokes first like anyone else. I can then leave them to take in what evidence is valuable, and ignore the rest. But they will, I fear, get hopelessly muddled, and I will have felt I have shifted my responsibility. Truth to tell a student of batsmanship would be better profited to turn from county grounds to others less grand.

He might watch D. J. Knight enjoying a net at Vincent-square, or H. S. Altham giving a practical exposition of his theories at Winchester. He might go to Beckenham or Blackheath and revel in the beauties of off-side play as revealed by C. T. A. Wilkinson and A. P. Day. And if he cannot drag himself away from first-class play he had better concentrate his observation on players of the younger school like Fairbrother, Squires, Keeton, and John Langridge, who are not yet sufficiently famous to flout the canons of orthodoxy.—E. W. Swanton, in The Evening Standard.

EMBEZZLED FUNDS OF THE GRAND THEATRE.

ACCUSED BOUND OVER.

A charge of embezzling $144.25, representing receipts at the Grand Theatre in Wanchai, was brought against Lee Woon Cheung, before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court yesterday.

Det. Sgt. Kennedy said that the accused had been three years in the employ of the Amusements Co., having been guaranteed in the post by an uncle who occupied the position of chief clerk in the Wing On Insurance Co., and who had put up $300 against that guarantee.

The $144.25 represented the takings of one day at the Grand Theatre. In the ordinary course of events, the money should have been handed over to a shroff, but accused had failed to do so on this occasion. His disappearance led to a warrant being issued for his arrest.

As the Amusements Co., had not suffered in any way, they having had the security of $300, they were inclined to take a lenient view and were not pressing the case.

His Worship bound the accused over in a sum of $200 with one personal surety, to be of good behaviour for a year.

The uncle of the accused refusing to furnish the personal surety, the accused was remanded for twenty-four hours to enable him to look for some other guarantor.

CAR'S 300FT. DIVE AT DOVER.

WEATHER HOLDS UP A GLORIOUS CRASH.

A trade notice states:—

One of the most sensational and successful stunts ever engineered for film purposes was accomplished despite adverse weather conditions by Walter Summers at Dover for a thrilling highlight in "The Flying Fool," now having its final run at the Queen's Theatre.

The scene depicted a dash on the Dover road in a car which eventually crashed over a three hundred foot cliff at St. Margaret's Bay. A Bentley car, which had set up records on the Brookland's track, was seared together with the services of two of Sir Harry Birkin's mechanics. A wooden track was laid down to keep the Bentley on her course and on the security of this depended the lives of the cameramen who stood at a vantage point for a close-up upon the cliff's edge. The gears of the car were locked and the engine warmed up, until at the word "go" its brakes were released and it roared off along the track. At the moment the Bentley shot over the cliff with the straightness of an arrow's flight it had attained a speed of 72 miles an hour, and a great and glorious crash 300 feet below was recorded both for sound and the second camera.

For two long worrying days, Summers was at loggerheads with the weather for this scene. A re-take being impossible it was essential that conditions were perfect for the crash. The first day was misty and it was not until four o'clock that the first ray of sunshine was seen. But the cliff's shadow was cast below and filming was declared off. The following day provided Summers with a taste of "sunshine" for despite a cloudy sky a light wind rose. Excitement was intense and the whole unit might have been seen on the cliff's edge scrutinising the sky and wondering whether the clouds would blow from the sun's face by the zero hour. At the critical moment, the sun emerged and the car performed its gigantic leap.

MR. PEPYS IN HONG KONG.

4th.—Up early and, having trimmed myself, to the office, where very busy ordering my affairs and dictating of my letters. But Mrs. Betty is might particular, enquiring of me as to the Boreal fashion of doing on certain garments, at which I chide her for a saucy minx. Yet, truth to tell, I could not answer her. Later to the Clubbe, where seated upon the verandah I have much discourse with Mr. Povy, Creed, and Mr. Ashby, we all agreeing the review of His Majesty's troops to be most excellent well done, but a pity they should march in the rain; and 'twere well had this been stayed. But, says Creed, all these matters work to a fixed measure of time, which if it vary by so much as a five minutes, the repercussions do well-nigh level Seven and Sixpenny Hill; and so once started there can be no change. Dined for nuncheon and I free at Mr. Povy's charge. Later reading in a Memoir of my great Ancestor, I do find to my greatest possible surprise that his wife Elizabeth St. Michel be born nigh to Bideford in the County of Devon, a place well known to me. And reading further I learn that upon his marriage anniversary a certain year, he knew not how many years he had been wed, and his wife tells him ten. Yet was she wrong, in that it was eleven years, and I am minded to write of this to my own wife, who poor wretch, be most singular apt to mark anniversaries and dates, which, God help me, I am not, and even more at fault than Mrs. Elizabeth.

5th, Lord's Day.—This day I did visit one of the King's greente shippes and there drank my Hollands waters diluted with an aerated water very pleasant to the taste, and I perceive I shall drink more of this. Bathing in the sea later I find there be a many jelly-fish of which the sting be so poisonous, it be most painful upon the skin and so I go ashore.

6th.—This day again falls rain and I am glad of it, for our reservoirs as still danger low—and I would fain see them awash by September or over the dry season comes.

7th.—Reading in the News Sheets over my early dish of tea I find a Mrs. P. Smith do reprove the Colony for its treatment of Chinese and the striking of coolies, which indeed puts me in complete amazement so great a mistatement it be; and speaking to Creed and Povy of it later, the latter did say that 'twere well she did save her tongue to chide her own nation for kidnapping and murder of babes. But what Creed said it is not fitting I should write down even in this secret diary. I learn there will be a judicial enquiry upon the loss of the great French shippe and it is but fit. For the most contradictory stories be told and no real cause for the flames shown. And, as some say all be most orderly while most that there be a wild panic, I do perceive that one can trust no tale. But I do trust the enquiry be holden with open doors and that it be made publique here.

8th.—At last comes news of the capture of one of these petty thieves who do make off with cars and later abandon them as like as not damaged. But this time the scoundrel be caught after a long chase, and for six months will drive no more. This evening to the Stables where I see my friend Valorous who tells me he runs not at the next meeting, being blistered in the fore-legs; which I think wise for he hath had a belly-ful of galloping this season. Dined with Mr. J. Heard and very busy with by race books working out the form. Yet much I doubt if form be a sound guide for wagering with a China pony. So home and very sleepy to bed.

9th.—Awaking this day I do perceive to my greatest possible vexation that I have taken a chill—yet how or whose I know not, and so, very cross, to the Office. It seems that an enquiry comes as to the recent stoppage of the Chinese post, and of this I would fain hear more though now 'tis done. To the Clubbe where later I fall talking (Continued on next column.)

CATCHING UP WITH THE AVERAGE.

HEAVY RAINFALL DURING PAST NINE DAYS.

10.5 INCHES SINCE JUNE 1.

The rainfall during the past nine days has done much to enable the figures for this year to stand comparison with rainfall over the same period in former years.

Since June 1, no less than 10.5 inches of rain has fallen and at the time of writing there is still promise of further rain. A very heavy downpour on Thursday night has helped materially to bring up the figures.

The rainfall since January 1 now totals 20.99 inches, so that it will be seen that more than half this quantity fell since the 1st of June. The 20.99 inches compares quite well with the 23.47 which is the general average for former years. The fall of rain during the last nine days has exceeded the average by five inches.

No less than 120,000,000 gallons have been impounded into the reservoirs during the past ten days. This is based on the calculation that an inch of rain would mean about 28,000,000 gallons of water for the reservoirs.

The rainfall from Thursday morning to Friday morning amounted to 2.14 inches.

FIGHTING WOMEN

BRAWL AT WEST POINT STREET FOUNTAIN.

Five women appeared before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court yesterday charged with fighting at a street fountain in Centre Street, West Point.

Inspector MacWalter informed the Magistrate that fighting was a common occurrence in West Point where there seemed to be a large number of women drawing water from the fountains. He said that the defendants, with many others who were not arrested, were fighting. When a district watchman intervened the fight became worse and the women threw clogs at one another.

His Worship ascertained that the trouble started when the third defendant tried to "cut in" while the fifth defendant was drawing her water. Each of these defendants was fined $5, and an order was made binding over all the defendants to keep the peace.

with Mr. F. Seeds and others of the Races, where I doubt not the going shall be soft, and, it may well be, very heavy, whereby will wagging be the more difficult. In the first race I learn that Mr. Frost rides not Little Beaver but The Tiger whereon I think he shall win. In the second race I am much at a stand to know if Cabinet Hall goes, or in No. 7. But on the whole I make little of it nor does he very much.

10th.—This day very heavy with a rheum in the head and, after ordering my business for some time, to bed and drinking a possett of strong waters and spices that, I trust, shall mend the matter. And I fall reflecting that it be mighty strange that with all the skill of our Chyrurgions who can nigh take a man to pieces and put him together again, and no speedy cure exists for rheuma of the head but they but recover by effluxion of the time alone. News this day of a Frenchwoman who crashed on a flight to Tokyo, and her face being mangled by her injuries the poor creature is said to have killed herself. Indeed it would seem there lies a curse upon these long flights, for, but a few days since yet another trans-Atlantic flight, a Hungarian or of some mid-European race, do vanish and is drowned. Later this day comes Mr. H. to my chamber and we speak more of the Races and the more I am at a stand to pick the winners who shall profit me. And what shall win the last race I know not—no, nor does any one else. Yet Helvellyn and Army Hall may not be so far away in other races. So to bed with a possett of strong waters and juice of the lemon and spices all mighty hot, and much hopes to be recovered on the morrow.

THE GUIDE MOVEMENT.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS,"]

SIR,—I should be greatly obliged if you would kindly find room in your columns for an acknowledgment of all the kindness that the Guide Movement has received with regard to the funds for Guide Headquarters (the "Sandilands Hut"). Friends of all nationalities have contributed with a readiness that has given the greatest pleasure to all concerned with the Guide Movement.

Mr. Tang Shiu Kin has sent $5,000 contributed by himself and his friends. This is a magnificent help towards the amount we require. We thank most warmly each of the generous donors, and in particular Mr. Tang Shiu Kin, who inspired this splendid gift.

We are greatly indebted to the Jockey Club for a very generous donation of $500.

We owe a tremendous debt of gratitude to Mrs. J. B. Newill, and to the Committee and Members of the Club Lusitano, who raised the sum of $2,657 by means of a Bridge and Mah Jongg drive and raffles at the Club Lusitano on May 27. The show was admirably organised by Mrs. Newill and her helpers, and proved a great success both socially and financially.

We are also greatly indebted to Mr. Komer for much valuable help in various ways and for allowing us, in conjunction with "The Athena Company," to exhibit the raffle prizes in their show window. The following friends greatly assisted us by donations, sale of raffle, bridge and mah jongg tickets, and in other ways:—

The Rev. G. T. Waldegrave, the Hon. Dr. and Mrs. Tso, the Hon. Mr. C. G. Mackie, Commodore and Mrs. Walker, Major Duclos, Mr. Riddiford, Mrs. T. H. King, Mr. M. J. Quist, the Hon. Mr. Bragan, the Hon. Dr. and Mrs. Kotewall, Mr. Ho Leung, Mrs. S. A. Lopes, Mrs. T. K. da Silva, Mrs. A. M. Soares, Mrs. C. A. da Roza, Mrs. Remedios, Mrs. P. M. N. da Silva, Mrs. A. A. Alves, Mrs. J. M. da Rocha, Mrs. Grist, Mrs. Brasier, Cragh, Komer's Exhibition Rooms, Mrs. Denis Blake, Mrs. Coppin, Mrs. L. H. King, Mrs. Stafford Smith, Mrs. Harriman, Miss Lopes, Miss Webster, Miss Hutcheson, Miss A. Owen Hughes.

Welcome prizes for bridge and mah jongg were received from:—

H. H. Sir Joseph Kemp, the Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, Mrs. J. A. Fraser, Dr. Graça Ozeiro, Mrs. Felix Joseph, Commander Newill, D.S.O., and Messrs. Komer and Komer.

Mr. M. St. J. Walsh, of the British-American Tobacco Co., most kindly supplied us with cigarettes for sale, and many friends gave us home-made sweets and prizes.

Mr. Hampden Ross audited the accounts for us, and we thank him very much for this kindness.

Mrs. J. H. Hunt and the members of the Ladies' section of the Y.M.C.A. most kindly gave a very successful bridge and mah jongg drive in aid of the Hut equipment, and realised the welcome sum of $170. Everyone enjoyed the afternoon thoroughly, and we are most grateful for this help.

We have had promises of assistance in furnishing the Hut from Mrs. R. H. Kotewall, who takes an unflinching interest in our Guide work, and Mrs. Sidney Woolf (London).

The estimated cost of the building is $5,500, and we hope to have shortly an estimate for the furnishing and equipment of the Hut, for which it may be necessary to raise additional funds.

We are most grateful for all the gifts we have received, both large and small, and we are hoping that it may be possible to provide an endowment fund eventually, as there will be annual expenses of upkeep, cooly, etc. It is delightful to get gifts from the Guide and Brownie Companies, and to realise that the sale of Guide and Brownie work at the Empire Day Rally at Government House realised $200. This was entirely the handiwork of the children, so that they have already contributed to their future home.

We cannot give adequate thanks to General Sandilands, and to Colonel Marsden and the Royal Engineers, who are helping us in every way. We hope that it may be possible for General Sandilands to open the Hut some time in August, and we trust that it will be a pleasant meeting place for all members of the Guide Movement, and a centre of happiness for the Guides and Brownies.

Any information regarding the Guide Movement, or offers of assistance in Guide work, or for Hut, should be addressed to Mrs. C. E. L. Grist, 224, The Peak—Yours faithfully,

BELLA SOUTHOON.

DEATH AFTER ASSAULT?

ALLEGATION OF ATTACK BY STREET SLEEPERS.

Chan Yik Yee, aged 62, who lived at 16, Portland Street, Yaumatei, is alleged to have died as the result of injuries received in an assault.

The son, Chan Wai-cheung, has informed the police that the father was assaulted at about 4.30 a.m. yesterday, on the pavement, outside the house. The son was attracted to the scene by the noise of a disturbance and on going out into the street he found his father leaning against a pillar. He was assisted into the house and later went to sleep, after complaining of pains in the abdomen.

His condition became worse and shortly after noon he was removed to the Kwong Wah Hospital, where he died at 3.30 p.m. There were no external signs of injury which might have caused death.

It is stated that the deceased man had been sleeping on the pavement with a number of street sleepers.

DECOYED GIRL FROM COLONY.

GOLF CADDIE SENT TO PRISON.

The case in which a Chinese man and a girl were charged with decoying a girl from the Colony for the purpose of prostitution was concluded at the Central Magistrate's court yesterday when Mr. Wynne Jones sentenced the male defendant to three months' hard labour. The girl was bound over in the sum of $100 to come up for judgment within the period of a year.

According to Inspector Shaftain, the man had once been a golf caddy at Happy Valley and at Deep Water Bay. He was the moving spirit of the decoying and the girl who was with him in the dock had once been a victim of his and was completely under his influence. The girl's mother was an earthy coolie and the girl was beyond her mother's control.

AIR MAIL SERVICES.

RESULTS OF RECENT NEGOTIATIONS.

INQUIRIES BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

In December last the Chamber of Commerce discussed the question of a possible alternative fast route for letters in the event of interference with mail services to and from Europe via Siberia.

The Government was written to requesting that enquiries be made as to schedule, time of transmission and cost of possible alternatives, e.g., by the various air mail routes by which letters are received and forwarded in the Straits Settlements.

The Chamber of Commerce also forwarded to Government copy of the Straits Settlements Post Office Pro Forma Time Table giving details of air mail services at present existing. This was received from the Singapore Chamber of Commerce.

The Postmaster General, Hong Kong, also obtained details of air mail services from the Director General of Posts at Bandaene and the Federated Malay States Director of Posts and Telegraphs.

Difference of Four Days.

The only air mail service with which it appears feasible at the moment for Hong Kong mails to connect is the weekly service via Singapore and Aler Star. Hong Kong mails to London connecting with this service would take at least 16 or 17 days—a saving of four or five days only compared with the route from Hong Kong via Siberia. Latterly, however, there has been some speeding up on this route.

The Committee of the Chamber of Commerce agreed with the Postmaster General that, in view of the small saving of time effected, an air mail service is not likely to attract much support so long as the Siberian route is working normally, particularly in view of the large additional charge, which would have to be made.

It is understood, however, that arrangements are being made whereby an air mail service will operate immediately in the event of the Siberian route being interrupted.

If and when a direct air service between Hong Kong and Bangkok or Saigon becomes an established fact, air mails will no doubt be carried, the reduction in time effected putting the question on a different basis.

LATE MR. E. R. DOVEY.

FUNERAL SERVICE AT HAPPY VALLEY.

BODY TO BE SENT TO AUSTRALIA.

The funeral of the late Mr. E. R. Dovey took place at the Protestant Cemetery, Happy Valley, last evening. The remains were not interred but will be embalmed and sent to Australia for burial. The service at the Chapel was attended by a large number of mourners, and was conducted by the Rev. E. G. Powell, assisted by the Rev. Frank Short.

Members of the Emergency Unit, Hong Kong Police Reserve, acted as pall bearers, while many members of the Reserve and Regular Police followed the cortege. His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government was represented by his A.D.C., Captain Webb, and the unusually large number of wreaths testified to the esteem in which the late Mr. Dovey was held.

POSSESSION OF ARMS.

WOMAN CONVICTED BUT NOT FINED.

A "MOST UNUSUAL" CASE.

A young Chinese woman was brought before Mr. J. A. Fraser yesterday on the charge of possession of four automatic pistols, 1,000 rounds of ammunition, 38 ammunition clips and 12 pistol springs, and after the Magistrate had heard the evidence, he decided to bind the woman over in the sum of $200 to appear for judgment in twelve months. The arms and ammunition were ordered to be confiscated.

Detective Sub-Inspector Elston conducted the case for the prosecution while the defence was in the hands of Mr. A. el Arculli.

Outlining the case for the prosecution, Inspector Elston said that about 5.30 p.m. on June 4, he, in the company of Sergt. Dixie and other police officers, went to the first floor of 5, Chee Woo Street, and there he saw the principal tenant, a woman. The latter took him to the rear cubicle and underneath a bed there, he found two boxes. He took these out and placed them on the centre of the floor. He left Sergt. Dixie in charge of the cubicle and went over the Nathan Hotel.

Took Officers to Her Room.

Continuing, Inspector Elston said that when he got to the Hotel he saw the assistant manager who took him to Room 207 on the first floor where he saw the defendant and four men. He asked the woman if her husband's name was Tam Koon Lin and she answered in the affirmative. He then asked her to take him to her room and she accordingly showed him to the cubicle he had visited previously. When they got back to the cubicle, Sergt. Dixie was still there and in the cubicle he (witness) cautioned the defendant.

Inspector Elston said that he asked the woman if that was her cubicle and she said yes. She also admitted that everything in the room belonged to her but added that the two boxes were left there by two men who said they would call for them again. When opened, these boxes were found to contain the arms and ammunition mentioned above.

Cross-examining Inspector Elston, Mr. Arculli asked the officer if he knew that the woman's husband stayed in the place and Inspector Elston replied that the husband worked on board one of the Empress boats but that he stayed in the cubicle whenever he was in port.

Mr. Arculli: When you saw the defendant in the Hotel, was she frank with you?

At the time that you cautioned her, you did not have your interpreter with you?—No.

Could you tell me how you cautioned her?—Yes, I said, "If you do not wish to speak, you do not have to speak."

Continuing, Mr. Arculli asked Inspector Elston if he tried to trace the man who, the woman said, had left the boxes with her but the officer answered in the negative.

Defendant's Story.

The woman then went into the box where she said that she was the second concubine of Tam Koon Lin. She had known Wong (one of the men who left the boxes with her) (Continued on Page 8.)

BRITISH FILM DRAMA.

It is now about a year since British films began to be shown regularly in the Colony. There was a great desire to have variation from the Hollywood drama, but should we not ask ourselves whether, in fact, British films come up to expectation? The only way of considering the conundrum is to put aside comparisons between the best of Elstree, and the best of Hollywood, when national bias tends to distort judgment, and to ask how far the British film holds its own with a performance at a West End Theatre. Are OWEN NARES, JACK HUBBERT, Sir JERARD DU MAURIER and the Aldwych group as effective on the screen as on the stage? HUBBERT is probably better and his grotesque dancing has a touch of genius. RALPH LYNN and TOM WALLS reach their summit in bullying the domesticated little man portrayed by ROBERTSON HARR. FANNY BRONCH's outraged respectability is unequalled and WINIFRED SHOOTER has a pleasant freshness after the exotic creature of the film. But the trouble with the Aldwych players is a sameness inevitable with specialised characters. There have also been a number of other farces, such as "No Lady," several murder stories, an excellent musical comedy and a couple of ventures into serious drama. The farces all had amazingly good moments, but two faults remain to be eliminated, that old sin of comedians, repetition of a good effect, and the submerging of the plot into mere clowning. LUPINO LANE, for example, can be nearly amusing as a frightened little man in a tight corner, and he is also a good female impersonator. Unfortunately, in "No Lady," the plot was overlaid with a heavy handed skit on cinema conspirators. The murder stories, like "Alibi," were good, but lacked distinguished and forceful acting. "Hindle Wakes" showed, however, that there is plenty of strength in British screen drama. NORMAN MCKINNEL and SYBIL THORNDYKE, were terrific; the latter with the harsh strength of her classical prototype. But in "Hindle Wakes," as in nearly all British films, the love interest is tepid and indecisive. It is a curious fact that while Englishmen make admirable lovers—witness the success of RONALD COLMAN, CLIVE BROOKE, and OWEN NARES, even for "Sunshine Susie," we had to import as heroine a merry and attractive, though not strictly beautiful, German girl, RENATE MULLER. British films are so good, and so near an extremely new standard of film art, that we all wait anxiously for the last heights to be scaled. In light comedy, in thrillers and in serious drama there is a tentative striving, and an abandoning of the easy levels that Hollywood has mastered. Hollywood understands the art of entertaining. For an unsophisticated thrill or a frank appeal to the senses Hollywood knows exactly what to do. But when, as quite often happens, a film on a bigger scale, "Annie Christie," for example, is attempted, it is generally a box-office failure. Hollywood, let us always remember has done better than some of us like to admit, for the film industry.

What the British films need is a Shakespeare of the screen. Our cinema drama is at the moment curiously like the stage drama before Shakespeare's influence predominated. His earlier colleagues, like GRIFFITH and MAULWEE were filled with soaring ideas. They wrote exquisite lyrics and a great scene here and there. But they were hampered by crudity, a lack of technique, a blindness to women's place in drama.

Shakespeare took and remoulded the old material. He created a new technique, he understood the proper sequence of event, the climax, and, above all feminine interest. He gave his audiences passionate young lovers, girls in masculine attire, silly old gentlemen, grim sex drama and vast historical pageant. And not least of all, he made the drama pay; he transformed his profession from a group of rogues and vagabonds to the "King's Men," under Royal patronage. Those are services that the British films need to-day: a director who will develop a technique and found a tradition; who will take ordinary human themes, told in thousands of novels and plays, and transmute them into greatness; who will express in this new medium the spirit of the Elizabethan drama, and of the eighteenth century opera, SHAW, BARRIE and the Irish plays. Who will also write his own scenarios of modern life and the events of to-day. The material is there to his hand—splendid actors and actresses, a great literature, a national hunger for our own films. The need will produce the man. We shall see him at first as a tiresome innovator, then there will be two opinions about him, and at last we shall accept him as we now accept SHAW and as the provincial actor-manager-playwright was accepted by the Court of Queen ELIZABETH and King JAMES.

More Discoveries.

Red-haired girl students are more brainy and studious than blondes and brunettes, says a report of the Wilamette University, Salem, Oregon. The report adds that they also exhibit an unusual combination of energy, wit, and intelligence.

Champion Jumping Frog.

Twenty thousand people at Angels Camp, California, saw a frog jump farther than a frog has ever been seen to jump before.

They went to watch Budweiser, the world's champion jumping frog, beat his own record which he created last year with one stupendous leap of 11 ft. 6 in. He had previously been champion in 1923.

Mark Twain's famous jumping frog has been totally eclipsed by Budweiser, who defended his title against a host of rivals, including five enormous frogs entered by the Fire Department of Washington, North Carolina.

Angels Camp, which was the scene of Mark Twain's classic frog-jumping story, was alive with Indians' ox-teams, mule teams, and other sights reminiscent of the early 'nineties.

Calmly flexing his powerful muscles, he set himself for his mighty task. Then, with one marvellous spring, he leaped into fresh honours, leaving all his rivals standing at the post.

Amid a tornado of cheers and triumphant music it was announced that he had cleared 13 ft. 6 in., beating his own record by 2 ft.

Too Much Supervision of Teachers.

A protest against too much supervision of the teaching profession was made by Mr. R. J. Pendlebury at the National Association of Head Teachers' Conference at St. Ann's-on-Sea, Lancashire.

"The teaching profession," he said, "is inspected by the Board of Education, organised and supervised by local education authorities, and criticised by everybody."

"We remember the days when the body and soul of the teacher were in the hands of the squire and parson. Those days are going, but we do not want the vacancies caused by those former intruders in the school to be filled by more insidious intruders."

It was stated that defendant overtook a motor bus, and when he was confronted with another Austin car coming from the opposite direction, he crossed over to the right in the track of the other car. There was a collision and both cars were badly damaged.

Convicted on a charge of possession of 29 tins of opium, a Chinese was fined $5,000 by Mr. W. Schofield yesterday, or in default, eight months' hard labour. The defendant was arrested on the Po Tai Wharf and was a passenger to the Colony from Canton on the s.s. Paul Beau. He engaged a coolie to carry an innocent looking basket of ferns, but this was discovered by an astute revenue officer to contain opium. The coolie, on being arrested, immediately pointed out the defendant as the man who employed him.

The conference accepted a proposal that the Children's Bill should provide for the services of a psychologist and a trained social worker at all children's courts. It also recommended that remand houses to which children might be sent from these courts should be equipped and staffed as observation houses.

An additional clause emphasised the need for head teachers serving as magistrates in the juvenile courts.

Thrillers of the best type, having no sympathy with crime, are good for men in solitary confinement," states the Rev. A. W. A Gallant Officer.

I was very glad to read in the Daily Herald that none of our "wonderful girl athletes" is going to exhibit at the Olympic Games in Los Angeles.

The "girl athletes" that I have seen are not a good advertisement for England nor for womanhood.

So Much Better!

Mr. Hoo Chi Tsai, Chinese Delegate to the Opium Advisory Committee concluded a letter to The Times as follows:—

Lastly, I objected also to the "conclusion" of the Bangkok Conference because it appeared to place upon my country all the responsibility for the failure of the Conference—for the "conclusion" tacitly admitted that it had failed—notwithstanding the fact that my country was not represented at the Conference because she could not associate herself with a Conference which presupposed the existence of an opium monopoly in the participating countries, China herself having none.

China has, of course, something better than a monopoly: it might almost be called free trade in opium.

Looking Back 50 Years.

The state of affairs brought about by the reckless speculation in land is now being felt in its action upon the trade of the Colony. When the foreign banks, as a measure of precaution, withdrew their advances to the Chinese banks, the land bubble speedily burst, for the native capitalists in Canton and Fatsan, taking alarm, called in their deposits, and nearly all the Chinese banks were consequently compelled to close. The result is, of course, an unprecedented tightness in the money market, and an inability on the part of the Chinese merchants to operate in the piece goods market. Never were the Chinese community of this Colony more completely cornered than at the present time.—Hong Kong Daily Press, June 11, 1902.

She asked him what they were and the man said they were nothing of importance. He (Wong) added that they contained medicine. Witness concluded by saying that she had no idea that the boxes contained what they did.

Then followed some discussion after which Mr. Arculli, in addressing the Court, said:—

"Your Worship has pointed out just now that the Ordinance is unusually strong against the accused in cases of this nature but my contention will be this, that in cases of this sort Your Worship will have to look into the circumstances to see whether the person charged was acting in good faith or not. Your Worship will have also to see whether there is any knowledge. In this particular case you will notice from the prosecution's own evidence that when the police entered the house the cubicle was closed but not locked. That is a point in favour of the defendant."

Mr. Arculli also pointed out that all along the defendant had been very frank with the Inspector, both in the cubicle and at the Hotel, though she might have been stupid to accommodate these two persons in accepting the two boxes.

DRAGON FESTIVAL TRAGEDIES.

TWO BOATS CAPSIZE NEAR CANTON.

MANY LIVES LOST.

A tragic incident marred the annual regatta of the Dragon Boats which took place in the harbour of Canton city on Wednesday, when one of the boats belonging to the Taishik village capsized whilst proceeding to Pak Fah bay in Honan Island to participate in a race to be held there.
Luckily, the boat foundered off the Taichungkang in the western part of the Island where many junk and sampans were lying at anchor at the time.
The accident took place at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. When the boat sank, several sampans rushed to the scene of distress to rescue the crew numbering some 70 to 80 men.

Nineteen of crew drowned.
The sampans succeeded in rescuing all except 19 members of the crew. The wrecked boat as well as the 19 dead bodies were recovered later.
A similar accident also took place on June 7 at a place near the eastern entrance of the Canton harbour. A dragon boat belonging to Pan Kiu village of Honan Island, which was proceeding on its journey to Szechuen region for the regatta contest to take place on the day of the Festival was capsized by a strong backwash caused, it is stated, by the steamboat Tung An on its trip to Hong Kong from Canton.

Despite timely assistance rendered by the villagers on the spot, the entire crew was drowned, except seven. The villagers have reported the matter to the local Navigation Association.

BRITISH GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

SARAZEN WINS

HAVERS' FINE EFFORT

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

GENE SARAZEN WON THE BRITISH OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP WITH A SCORE OF 283.

Havers requiring 60 to win, took 33 for the first eight holes.

SANDWICH, June 10. On the Prince's course, in the third round of the British Open Championship, the Prince of Wales, saw the Englishman Havers do a most brilliant sixty-eight, which is a record.
His score was:—
Out 4, 4, 2, 4, 3, 4, 4, 4, 4.
In 3, 4, 4, 4, 4, 3, 4, 5, 4.

Havers finished second with 213 to the American Sarazen, who took 209, the lowest aggregate ever in three championship rounds, in the fourth round Sarazen took 74, total 283, which is a record aggregate score beating Jones' 285 at St. Andrews in 1927.

LONDON, June 9. Gene Sarazen, exalted himself to-day in the British Open Golf Championship at Sandwich, returning a splendid card of 69 for the second round. The American expert now leads the field by a margin of three strokes, his nearest opponent being Percy Alliss, who duplicated his performance of yesterday, returning 71.
The British contingent are by no means out of the struggle, although Gene Sarazen is playing superbly consistent golf and it will require more than an ordinary effort to overtake him.

The Japanese player, Miyamoto, failed to stand the pace. He followed up his 78 of yesterday with 80 to-day and has no further in test in the tournament.

Tommy Armour, the American holder of the title, went round in 70, a feat which was duplicated by Archie Compston. Charles Whitcombe required 73.
The leading scores follow:—
Gene Sarazen 70+69=139
Percy Alliss 71+71=142
Archie Compston 74+70=144
Charles Whitcombe 71+73=144
Tommy Armour 75+70=145

GOLD STANDARD UPHOLD

GENEVA GOLD DELEGATION REPORT

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

GENEVA, June 9. THE gold standard remains the best available monetary mechanism, and is capable of achieving most of the advantages claimed for alternative standards, in the opinion of the experts responsible for drafting the final report of the Gold Delegation, appointed by the League of Nations in 1929.
The final report declares that, apart from the considerations of the distribution of the world's stocks of monetary gold, they are adequate to support the world's credit structure and the rapid decline of commodity prices cannot be attributed to any deficiency in the gold supply.

Price Levels.

The raising of existing price levels, which is admittedly desirable does not depend, according to the Report, upon monetary policy alone. Nevertheless, the central banks of the leading countries ought to encourage a freer use of credit and might also reduce the recognised reserve ratios.
The main minority report, which is signed by the chairman, Mr. Albert Janssen and also the whole of the British representatives on the Delegation, asserts that the dominant cause of the breakdown of the gold standard was the maldistribution of monetary gold supplies, beginning in 1928.

Both the majority and minority sections of the Delegation agree that among the practical remedies must be included an early settlement of international debts and serious mitigation of the restraints upon international trade.

SECRET OF DEAD WOMAN IN BATH.

HAD BEEN SENTENCED TO SEVEN YEARS.

ONLY CHILD WHO EXPECTED TOO MUCH FROM LIFE.

The secret of the woman found dead in a bath at the Great Western Hotel Paddington, W., was revealed at the Paddington Coroner's Court.

The girl was Miss Lilian Mabel Scrivings, aged 21 of Cleveland Road, Highgate, N. Her father said she was an only child, and that she had received a sentence of seven years' penal servitude for diverting dividend warrants.

The verdict was suicide while of Unsound Mind.

The father, Mr. George William Scrivings, a clerk, gave evidence of identification. He said his daughter or was trained as a shorthand typist, but she had not had any employment for years.

The Coroner (Mr. Ingelby Oddie).—She has been a trouble to you, I believe.

Mr. Scrivings.—I am sorry to say she has.

She was my only child?—Yes.

The Coroner.—I am sorry for you "Whole Thing False."

Mr. Scrivings said his daughter recently stayed with them for a week-end. She left on April 25 and said that she was going back to her job at the Girl Guides' Association.

"Later," he said, "she wrote saying that the whole thing was false and that she was going north to find a job. She said she hoped to make good, and it she did make good she would communicate with us."

Mr. Scrivings said that he received a letter from his daughter from Tring. It referred (Continued at foot of next column.)

AMERICA'S RECORD GOLD EXPORT

AT A LOSS OF $132,000,000

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

NEW YORK, June 9. A NEW record for the year in gold export has been established during the past week, with a loss to America of $132,000,000, chiefly to France and Switzerland.

The United States gold reserve is now left with about $84,000,000,000, a reduction of $132,000,000,000 during the present year. It is believed that foreign banks still have balances of $3,000,000,000, which will probably be gradually withdrawn.

Credit Policy Fails.

This heavy loss of gold restricts the ability of the Federal Reserve Board to follow the policy of credit expansion within the legal minimum gold cover, and it is understood that, as a result of the outflow, the Board has decided to cause its recent policy of heavy purchasing of United States Government bonds in order to pile up an excess reserve in the members' banks, thus encouraging them to liberalise credit to business.
The results of this policy, in which the Board has spent about $1,000,000,000, is disappointing, as it has produced no outflow from the banks (which complain of the fewness of sound borrowers) and no improvement in business.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, June 9. H.M. the King knighted Mr. Alfred Gilbert, the 75-year-old sculptor and designer of the famous "Eros" Statue at Buckingham Palace to-day.

Only last week, Sir Alfred Gilbert accepted an invitation to join the Royal Academy, from which he had resigned 25 years ago as a result of a controversy over the statue.

He served in Belgium for 17 years and returned to London at the invitation of the King to complete the Memorial to the Duke of Clarence at Windsor. He then worked on the Queen Alexandra Memorial, which was unveiled by the King at Marlborough House yesterday.

to an advertisement in a newspaper of the previous day, which read, "Come home at once, Dad."

She asked if that was his advertisement. He said he had not put the advertisement in the paper.

Mr. Scrivings said his daughter "was everything that could be desired except from one point of view, that was that she expected from life what we were unable to give her."

She had tried to take her life before.

Had Only a Penny.
A reception clerk at the hotel said that Miss Scrivings had no luggage when she booked a room on Friday.

Constable Cunningham said that only a penny was found in Miss Scrivings' clothing.

The coroner, recording his verdict, said:—
"Miss Scrivings was an abnormal woman, mentally unstable, very distressed. I think this was a device on her part to draw herself in comfort in warm water instead of dropping into the cold river."

TO WIND UP HIS PERSONAL AFFAIRS?

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, June 10. CHEN MING SHU left for Nanking this afternoon but this unnecessarily implies that he is resuming his duties at the Ministry of Communications, as it is stated he merely intends to wind up his personal affairs.
Tao Ting Kai also left for Nanking where he will discuss questions affecting the transfer of his troops to Fukien.

WILL CHINA'S OFFER BE ACCEPTED?

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

NANKING, June 10. A GOVERNMENT spokesman has announced that China, prompted with the desire to promote world peace in the spirit of the Kellogg Pact, is prepared to open negotiations with the Soviet for the conclusion of a treaty of mutual non-aggression, the signing of which would mean the automatic resumption of Sino-Russian diplomatic relations.
China is also ready to conclude a similar treaty with other Powers including Japan.

MUNITION TRAIN ATTACKED

MORE TROUBLE ON C.E.R.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

HARBIN, June 10. TROUBLE on the Chinese Eastern Railway has broken out again, this time to the east of Imjingko.

Outlining the incident, Japanese reports declare that heavy casualties were inflicted on the raiders while the Japanese losses totalled five killed and ten wounded.

It appears that an armoured train was escorting an ammunition train from Harbin to the scene of the war operations. It travelled unhindered as far as Imjingko, but later the ammunition train was furiously attacked by about six hundred anti-Manchukuo forces near Wokimoho.

The train guards defended the ammunition train against the onslaught and held the attackers at bay until the arrival of the armoured train which had got slightly delayed.
After several hours of fighting, the Chinese eventually withdrew leaving many casualties on the field.

Sports News

RACING SEASON ENDS TO-DAY.

EIGHTH EXTRA MEETING OF JOCKEY CLUB
LIKELY TO BE RUN IN SLUSH.

SOME SELECTIONS FOR THE PUNTER.

[By "MORNING DEW."]

To-day's meeting brings the first half of the racing season of the Hong Kong Jockey Club to a close and there is sure to be a big gathering at Happy Valley to see the sport, which will not be resumed again until September 17.

There are nine races on the card and although entries are comparatively few, there should be some good sport. The race for Australian ponies looks as if it is going to be the best event on the card and it will be interesting to see which way the public will lend their support.

The incessant rain during the week has rendered the course extremely heavy, part of it being under water following the heavy rainfall in the small hours of Thursday morning.

INTERESTING EVENT FOR AUSTRALIANS.

For the opening race there are only five entries, all of which, however, are likely to accept. Little Beaver ran so well at the last meeting that I am afraid he will be difficult to beat this afternoon. The Tiger ran a good second to Bag and Baggage at the last meeting and is quite capable of putting up a good show. Mike and Nippy are not likely to trouble the favourites as both made a poor show in the "B" Class Customs Handicap a fortnight ago. The course is sure to be heavy and this might make some difference but at best I cannot say that Mike or Nippy are anything more than outsiders. The same remark applies to Royal Flush, who is now down to 140 pounds.

Cabinet Hall.

The second race is not likely to attract a big field and Cabinet Hall appears to have an excellent chance of scoring a win here. Just Imagine and Snappy Eve are likely to get places if Gold Ring at 171 pounds prefers to start elsewhere. Christmas Joy at 163 pounds is also not likely to accept, the more so as he has a very good race later in the day. Cupid and Tommy Boy are the others entered in the race.

Champagne Bay.

Champagne Bay is due for a win to-day and if he is not upset by the heavy going, there seems to be nothing to touch him among the entries. Adam is a good candidate and looks a certainty for a place while Gold Ring is another good candidate. Wembley Stag has been placed quite frequently and might again do well this afternoon, but it is hardly likely that he will beat Champagne Bay. Imperial Hall at 140 pounds might prove to be a very good outsider.

The Australians.

The handicapper has given The Raindrop top weight in this race for Australians and the pony will have to run with 175 pounds in the saddle. Undoubtedly The Raindrop is the best pony entered, but it is problematical whether he can make the weight or not. Aurora ran such a good race behind The Giraffe at the last meeting that I shouldn't be surprised to see him give The Raindrop a run for his money, although he will be carrying 25 pounds more this afternoon than a fortnight ago. Gold Digger has been well up in the last few times that he has started and he might easily get a place to-day.

Some Good Candidates.

Army Hall ran a beautiful race at the last meeting and the 162 pounds that he has to carry this afternoon does not look like too big a penalty, but he has to run up against such good candidates as Marquis Hall and Kate, both of which are running well at the moment. Wonderful Stag also is in this race and when this pony wants to run, he will take some beating. He looks to me to be a very good outsider bet. The Gadwall has only 150 pounds to carry for to-day while The Shoveller has only 140 as has also The Lion. Any of these might provide the winner, though candidly it will be rather hard to imagine them finishing ahead of Kate, Marquis Hall and Army Hall.

Princess Hall.

Princess Hall carries top weight for the Hwang Ho Handicap but he is head and shoulders better than the other entries in this race and should not have much difficulty in winning. White Jade Stag after his meritorious win a fortnight ago is sure to command a good following and is out to put up a good race. Workable Stag will also start here and he is quite a good outsider. Punch also has a sporting chance as the heavy going suits him and 143 pounds does not look as though it is going to spoil his race.

Juling Handicap.

Christmas Joy is the best of the entries in the Juling Handicap for "D" Class ponies over a mile. He is in at 158 pounds and should not have much opposition. Valley Hall at 145 pounds should find the going to his liking and if he is well handled ought to figure prominently in the race. The Rainstorm is another candidate that might find the going to his liking and will do well. Until Then, if sent out here, is a good place bet.

Novices Race.

The novices race has only seven entries and the race is somewhat spoiled by the presence of Helvellyn, a pony which is much better than the rest of the entries. Valeta, Firefly and possibly Fighting Blood may give the favourite a race but is not likely to beat him. The heavy going might account for an upset, so if Helvellyn is going to be beaten, any of the starters might do the trick.

Last Race.

Amor is my choice for the last race and although he has as much as 100 pounds, he ought not to find that too much for him. Hirwego has been beaten out of a place in the straight on several occasions, but to-day he is not running against anything very good and should get in a place. Until Then is likely to be kept back for this event in which case he ought to be backed.

AMERICAN GOLF INVASION.

STRONG BID FOR BRITISH OPEN.

WALTER HAGEN TO TRY AGAIN.

London, May 13.—Several American golf stars are making preparations to invade Great Britain for the British Open Championship, which will be played on the Prince's course at Sandwich, Kent, on June 9 and 10.

Originally from Aberdeen, Tommy Armour, the holder, who won at Carnoustie a year ago, has booked his passage from New York on May 24. That should give the champion a full week for practice at Sandwich. Armour did well in the Winter Tournaments and the economic blizzard in the States passed him by. He had a four months' engagement with Mr. Clarence H. Geist of Philadelphia, a multi-millionaire, at his winter home in Boca Raton. The course there is one of the best in the United States, and Armour had ample opportunity to keep himself at the top of his form. Armour loves Sandwich. Golfers anyway are superstitious people. Once they win a tournament, they believe they are fated to repeat. That is why you will always find last year's winner on the course.

To Redeem Itself.

MacDonald Smith is already in Great Britain practicing keenly. He is to make at Sandwich his seventh bid for the title. Smith has come to regard victory in the British Open as the only way he can make up for his dramatic collapse last year at Carnoustie. It was on this course that he actually learned to play. He has been playing some great golf in the States—demonstrated by his winning recently the following open championships:—Los Angeles, the Metropolitan and Long Island, in scores which for some twelve rounds represent an average of 70.

Gene Sarazen, will be another invader. He has made a continuous, but thus far, unsuccessful bid for the British title. Despite this fact he is likely once again in American eyes to start prime favourite. Curiously enough this player hitherto opens the spring with his greatest game in golf. Then as the summer wears on his genius seems to slumber.

Sarazen, too, likes Prince's. It is a course that suits his powerful game. May be, it is the most difficult course in Europe—one, with its prevailing high winds, that puts a premium on long iron play.

Pocket Hercules.

In a recent letter, Leo Diegel, said that Sarazen is now playing the best golf of his career—a strong tip for the championship. He is a New Yorker of Italian parentage and is a pocket Hercules who hits the ball a ferocious blow. He is one of the few great golfers of the world still employing the old fashioned interlocking grip—little finger of the right hand entwined with the first finger of the left. Leo Diegel, the $5,000 a year professional who is now under contract to play a foreign ball, has that as an incentive for an assault upon Sandwich. He is an artist and individualist in every phase of the game, and is the most highly paid professional golfer in the world—receiving a retaining fee of $20,000 per annum from the Agua Caliente Club in Mexico. Others who are preparing to make the trip are Johnny Burke, the American Open champion; Walter Hagen, who has won the tournament four times and Androsky Arroyo Cooper, a Londoner by birth who has not visited England since he left these shores when a small boy.

DULEEP SCORES A CENTURY.

SUSSEX AND GLAMORGAN WIN EASILY.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

London, June 9. Three of the test matches which began on Wednesday have been completed, one of these being the game between the Gentlemen of Somerset against the South Americans which resulted in an eight-wicket win for the former. The game took place at Taunton. Going in first, the visitors made 216 to which their hosts replied with 177. In the second innings, however, the South Americans failed to maintain their form and were all out for 108. Set to get 148 for a win, the Gentlemen of Somerset knocked off the required runs for the loss of only two wickets.

The scores were:—
South Americans, 1st innings 216
Gentlemen of Somerset, 1st innings 177
South Americans, 2nd innings 108
Gentlemen of Somerset, 2nd innings (for 3 wickets) 140

GLAMORGAN v. LEICESTER.

LEICESTER BADLY BEATEN.

At Cowbridge, Glamorgan beat Leicester by an innings and 188 runs. Leicester had first knock but this advantage proved to be of no avail for they were soon dismissed for the small total of 84 runs. Mercer taking 5 wickets for 33 runs. To this total Glamorgan replied with 338, a feature of their innings being a good knock by E. Davies who made 103. For Leicester, Geary got 7 wickets for 100 runs.

In their second knock Leicester were in a worse plight for with Clay getting 5 wickets for 23 runs, they could only manage to muster 63 runs.

Leicester, 1st innings 84
Mercer, 5 for 33
Glamorgan, 1st innings 338
Davies, 103
Geary, 7 for 100
Leicester, 2nd innings 63
Clay, 5 for 23

SUSSEX v. WORCESTER.

DULEEP'S HUNDRED.

Sussex were at home to Worcester at Horsham when they won by an innings and 102 runs. With Tate (4 for 20) bowling well, Worcester only compiled 88 runs in their initial knock, and to this Sussex replied with 343 runs. Duleep Singh was in excellent form with the bat and played stylish cricket to score 110 runs. Worcester then went in again and though they showed a slight improvement on their first innings effort, they could only muster 153. Tate with 4 for 47 was again the most successful bowler for Sussex.

The scores were:—
Worcester, 1st innings 88
Tate, 4 for 20
Sussex, 1st innings 343
Duleep Singh, 110
Worcester, 2nd innings 153
Tate, 4 for 47

have won the British Open Championship in ten of the last eleven years. The last time the cup was held in Britain was in 1923 when Arthur Havers broke through. In seven of these years either Walter Hagen or Bobby Jones was the winner. Jock Hutchison won in 1931, Jim Barnes in 1925, and Armour in 1931. Walter Hagen won in 1925, 1924, 1923, and 1920, Jones in 1926, 1927 and 1930.

AUSTIN REGAINS HIS FORM

BEATS U.S. INDOOR CHAMPION

(Reuter's Special Service.)

EASTBOURNE, June 9. "BUNNY" AUSTIN, around whom centre Great Britain's hopes of winning the Davis Cup, dispelled all doubts concerning his physical condition when he displayed brilliant form to defeat Gregory Marjlin, the United States Indoor Champion, by scores of 6-1, 6-3, 9-7 in the Great Britain v. United States encounter here to-day. Austin recently underwent an operation to his nose and, though he made a very satisfactory recovery, he was unable to play in the British Davis Cup trials at the Queen's Club or to take his place in the British team against Roumania in the second round. It was then thought that Britain's chances of winning the Davis Cup were very poor, but Austin's speedy recovery and the form which he displayed against Marjlin has placed British hopes in a high pedestal.

Hack Wilson and Hartnett hit home runs.
Philadelphia 3, Pittsburgh 4.

LOCAL TENNIS.

TO BE WASHED OUT AGAIN?

Prospects for a start in the league tennis programme this afternoon seem to be exceedingly remote. At the time of going to press there was a steady drizzle and as the rain during the past week has rendered most of the grounds unplayable, it is more than likely that official opening of the league tennis season is due for yet another postponement.

DON'T LET INDIGESTION AGE YOU.

Many a young person looks old and haggard through indigestion. The continual pain and discomfort combined with the inability of weakened stomach organs to extract nourishment from food are such a terrible strain that they drive all trace of youth away. If you ever have indigestion, no matter how slight—beware! Get to the root of the trouble before it becomes chronic. Bismarck's Magnesia will do this quickly. This great stomachic stops indigestion almost instantly by neutralising excess acid and stopping food fermentation—common causes of digestive trouble—while, in addition, it soothes, heals and strengthens your weakened stomach. Bismarck's Magnesia is used by doctors and in hospitals all over the world. Get a package of Bismarck's Magnesia powder or tablets from your chemist to-day. The complete freedom from digestive pain and discomfort will be wonderful and will make you feel healthier and younger.

A traditional friend in your own house, in the other man's house, and at the club. Such is Johnnie Walker. A fine old whisky that is more than a whisky—being, as it surely is, essentially the right drink to offer all people at all times.

BALL OVER THE "GARDEN WALL."

NEIGHBOUR SUE FOR ITS RETURN.

Southend.—Returning home from work one day, a Southend Sunday school teacher found his five-year-old son crying in the garden. The boy said his ball had gone over the garden wall. That was on April 13.

Later, the Sunday school teacher, Mr. William Percy Clarke, of Tennyson-avenue, sued his neighbour, Mr. Thomas Boulter, at Southend alleging that Mr. Boulter had confiscated the ball.

Mr. Clarke said that as he failed to get the ball returned, he telephoned for the police. He told Mr. Boulter that by retaining the ball he was guilty of larceny. Mr. Boulter had been interviewed by a constable, but had not returned the ball.

Four Claimants.

Mr. Boulter said he did not know who owned the ball. There were four claimants.

Mr. Registrar Lamb told Mr. Clarke he could take proceedings in the County Court, and could issue interpleader summonses, and could fight out the ownership of the ball. The ownership had not been established, and judgment, therefore, would be for Mr. Boulter.

N.Y.K. LINE.

REDUCED RATES TO EUROPE VIA AMERICA OR CANADA.

SPECIAL ROUND-THE-WORLD FARES.

In connection with the recent reduction in passage rates on the Atlantic lines, the N.Y.K. through rates to Europe comprising one-way, round-trip and summer excursion round-trip fares, as well as their around-the-world fares, have been considerably reduced as circulated by them recently among their agents. Nevertheless, it is worth while to let the public know their reduced rates.

If passengers desire to travel throughout 1st class from Hong Kong to Europe via America, taking such motor ships as "Asama Maru," "Tatsumi Maru" and "Chichibu Maru" from Hong Kong to San Francisco, then the railway trip across Continent, and from Atlantic port to Europe by any liner such as the "Berengaria" of the Cunard Line, the single rate will be $110-10-0d, being thus more than 210 cheaper when compared with the former rate. The round-trip and summer excursion round-trip rates, which are newly introduced to the travelling public are $222 and $170, respectively, covering 1st class passages by the above-mentioned highest grade of passenger vessels.

Another attractive offer to which attention should be drawn is the through rate to Europe, one-way, of $77 covering 2nd class passage by vessel of "Asama Maru," type, 1st class continental rail and tourist class passage by the "Bremen" and "Europa" of the N.D.L. or by the "Berengaria" of the Cunard Line. Round-trip rates, ordinary and Summer Excursion, will be $148-10-0d and $110-10-0d, respectively.

The N.Y.K. offer their special around-the-world rates: 1st class rates covering passages by the best grade of passenger liners on the Pacific, Atlantic and Suez route is $198, and 2nd class passengers use the cabin ships on the Pacific and the Atlantic, the round-the-world rate will be $163. There are many other equally attractive rates, calling for accommodation and service which provide the maximum of comfort and satisfaction to travellers; such details can be obtained at the local office of N.Y.K. Line.
